

VOLUNTEER VOICES

MAGGIE

Maggie is a Novelist and Poet who loves language. She trained in CELTA after over 20 years in the Recruitment Industry. In 2013 she spent three months teaching in Siem Reap as a volunteer and returned to take up an opportunity teaching at KiwiClass. Maggie worked in our Hutt Office teaching Workplace English, NZQA qualifications and using her recruitment skills to assist students to find work experience. Along with family commitments, spending time with her mokopuna and her writing, Maggie now volunteers in our Hutt Office and is a relief teacher.

“I am so proud to be associated with KiwiClass. I love the ethos, the aims, the camaraderie, and the intellectual stimulation working with such passionate teachers and amazing students who bring a richness of life experience into the classroom. I’m in awe of the students we teach who often speak two or three languages, have been dislocated from their mother-tongue and have the courage and drive to come to class to learn English. It’s a privilege to be part of this.”
